Rules for the Submission of manuscripts and The Review process

Before You submit your article, first read the Manuscript Requirements. «Urgent Problems of Europe» uses an electronic email address inonran.ape@gmail.com for manuscript submitting in Microsoft Word format. Previously published scholarly articles (including on the Internet) can't be printed in the journal. The editors have the right to scientific and literary editing. The right to decide on compliance / non-compliance of articles belongs to the Editor-in-Chief and Managing Editor. Submissions that are overly long, poorly-written, incorrectly formatted, or whose content are not appropriate for the journal, will not be reviewed. All received material will be checked for plagiarism. The author will be informed about the decision within a month by e-mail.

The Review Process

The Manuscript, accepted by the Editorial Board is reviewed by the experts (doctor of science or candidate of science) with close to the manuscript topic scientific specialization. In each case the terms of the review publishing is determined by the Managing Editor.

Expert review is made on the following parameters: title article matches the topic; novelty and relevance of the topic; fundamental study topics and conclusions validity. The expert solution should contain arguments based on all these characteristics.

There are three options for expert review:

- article can be published without editing;
- article needs editing.

- article can't be published.

Review shall be certified in the manner prescribed in the institution where the reviewer works. Peer reviewer identities are kept confidential, but author identities are made known to reviewers. The existence of a manuscript under review is not revealed to anyone other than peer reviewers and editorial staff. Peer reviewers are required to maintain confidentiality about the manuscripts they review and must not divulge any information about a specific manuscript or its content to any third party without prior permission from the journal editors.

The reviewer and Managing Editor send to the author a letter with recommendations for articles improvement or ask to present author's arguments in case of disagreement with the reviewer.

Articles, which are not recommended by a reviewer for publication, can't be accepted again. Texts with negative review are sent to the author by e-mail.

The positive review is not a sufficient basis for the article publication. The final decision on manuscript publication is made by the journal's Editorial Board and fixed in the written form.

The Editor has the right to reject an article in case of inability or unwillingness to consider the remarks of the reviewer by the author. Accepted articles are published in the electronic and print versions of «Urgent problems of Europe» and are searchable and citable just like other articles in the journal. Editor informs the author about the date of publication.

Originals of reviews are stored in the Editorial Board for five years. Editorial Board doesn't save manuscripts, which are not accepted for publication. Manuscripts accepted for publication will not be returned to the author.

Fee for review articles will not be charged.

All articles are published free of charge.

Appeal

At the request of the author, whose article received a negative review from the experts of «Urgent problems of Europe», Editorial Board would send to him the grounds of the publication refuse. If he (she) disagrees with the Editorial Board's arguments, concerning his article, it will be sent to another reviewer, a member of the Editorial Board, who hasn't participate earlier in the consideration of the article. In case of confirmation by this member of the Editorial Board of the negative conclusion of the reviewer, this decision will be considered the final one
